STORM SURVEY

The Army Engineers' late last week closed the drainage gates on the Caloosahatchee canal, in order to protect the Glades and Hendry County territory from heavy overflow of water.

Out at the Hillsboro plantation, early flood waters for a time got the best of the pumps, owing to one of the largest ones being out of use. Some of the waters reached on to the "old farm," but report on Wednesday morning, was that water was being lowered rapidly and that the serious danger point had been passed. With dry weather farm operations can be resumed within a week. The project work of the Selkirk rain-gate plant for the time being is at a standstill.

One of the results of concerted action of Relief organizations, was the arrival in Belle Glade Monday night of a Coast Guard mobile radio outfit from Richmond, Va. The big outfit was stationed at the city hall, and soon was ready to be broadcasting to the Coast Guard stations at West Palm Beach and elsewhere. By this means the Glades area will not be again isolated from the world as it was for a short time after the hurricane.

A. R. Broadfoot, in charge of the Army base at Cleveiston, on Tuesday morning, stated that the lake level at that time was 18.31, which showed a foot increase since the hurricane. A wind velocity from the heavy squalls from the Gulf showed gusts of 25 to 40 miles per hour at Cleveiston.

Cleveiston is being given the Government's lake and wide the melins have been given a terrific lashing by waves to serious damage has been sustained. Heavy back waters from the Kissimmee valley are and are yet to come into the level, which will one time to keep the lake at a high level for some time to come. Heaters at least another foot of raise.

On Monday, on account of the coming inundation of the Sanibel Cut Migratory camp, most of the population was removed to Camp Everglades on the edge of Paludosa, for better housing shelter.

Joe Simmons, a colored man who has worked for 19 years for Fritz Stein, owner on Kreamer Island, reports that he had a heavy loss by drowning of most of his sizeable chicken flock. His house was also badly damaged by the coverage and flow of water.

Waldner Texas, whose 80 acres of land join the western end of the Glades, as a result of having done much drainage work on same, along with the building of a pretty sizable and apparent durable dike, reports that his loss on that tract is comparatively small, but that he has losses on other lands which he farms.

One of the largest material demands for repairs was roofing material, and so much was the supply on hand or under way, that the latter, as an emergency measure, make special shipments to Palm Beach County, to alleviate the crisis for these materials. What did come into Belle Glade was snatched up quickly, even before it could be removed from the trucks.

A secondary storm developed over the week end which swept up the Gulf of Mexico, striking at points near Tampa and New Orleans, winding its way in to Georgia. Numerous other storms were experienced along the Atlantic seaboard, Jacksonville getting one of these.

reported that the cleanup job in Belle Glade was quite a formidable task, but that the rough cleanup has been effected, but that it will take several months before the things can be placed in as good condition as before the storm. He reports that low fatalities were non-existent during the past week, and that the best of order was prevalent over the city. A number of the quarter houses came and applied for work and were set to work cleaning up the tree mess at the rear of the city hall property. City Bender, of Everglades Farm Center, also had quite a job on his hands around his garage and home.

A special call was sent out over the radio Tuesday night, asking for motor driven boats and Higgins boats for use in leaving sand bars for dike protection use. Sailboats were "loaded" at Cleveiston and other supplies were brought by the State Highway Department and unloaded at Lovelace and Canal Point.

Physicians state the health of the community is good. Two recent convicts on the Indianola road out of Port Mayaca were put out of commission by the recent storm, but traffic is available, by two temporary bridges which have been constructed around the washouts.

The Belle Glade public school resumed operation on Tuesday morning. Principal E. O. Holloman states that around 75 percent of the enrolled student body were present for school work.

State Highway officials, now on the Conner's highway job, Tuesday night, anticipated that the road was gone, and that it would have to be rebuilt over about 15 miles, from the distance between Canal Point and Twenty-Mile Bend. The north seven miles, which was rebuilt last year, may be saved. The stretch between Twenty-Mile Bend eastward to Lovelace is also in bad condition, and will likely need reconstruction.

Bus service has had little interruption, but on Wednesday morning, road conditions required the calling of the Glades schedule, for the time being. This also effected common travel, and entrance to the Glades will necessarily mean long detours by way of Stuart and Ft. Lauderdale, unless the barrier is raised.

Lawrence Will states that only twice in his knowledge has the water at Okelanta been as high as at the present time, the other period being back in 1922, when two feet of water covered the prairie lands.

Down at Okelanta sugar plantation, the storm did a lot of unroofing, and now the entire plant site as well as much of the sugar cane lands are inundated. The latter were to some extent protected by means of the fine canal drainage system on the sugar lands.

Slam Corbin out at the lake dike, states that the waters are lapping at the edge of the dock platform. He suffered no boat loss from the effects of the storm, but would gladly see less water surrounding and flowing past the point.

Cedery bees are reported to have mostly been eliminated by the overflow waters; although some salvage may be possible. Farmers who may have had corn in the ground may have taken a loss on their plantings, but there is still time for two more crops before the season ends next June.

On Wednesday, George Williams decided to remove his herd of cattle, of several hundred head, to a more safe location. The cattle were herded up, and with Avery Base's trained trail cow in the lead, she led the bunch down No. 80 highway, and across canal bridges, to their new location.

On the same day, the Caloosahatchee farm management, down on Route 25, successfully removed several thousand head of cattle from its pastures to a new location near Davis. The cattle were driven down the main highway without incident or loss of a head.

W. P. Hill, of the Palm Beach Cattlemen's Association, states to the Herald representative, that he was in pretty close touch with the situation, and that he did not think that over 25 head of cattle had been lost by Association members.

His own cattle, that of John Harris, in Hendry and Collier Counties, have not been harmed, they have plenty of high land and good pasture. He stated at the report that 3300 head had been drowned in a severe stampede, as stated in newspaper stories from this region. Waters coming in from the Devil Garden region is making things bad along the Miami canal south of Lake Harbor.

A number of local cattle owners have found it necessary to take loads of their cattle to the Kissimmee sales market for sale, and sustain a severe cut on price, in order to salvage anything from them. It was a case of permitting the cattle to starve and die in the fields, or sacrifice them in low sales. Reported that animals went as low as 10c per pound.

We All Need Fun!

Nobody in Our Town is exactly lay down even Pete Swanson's misadventures he sleeps till seven A.M. But the hardest working man of all is Doc (Chlor-dane) on call, morning, noon and night.

Funny thing, Doc's favorite prescription to his patients is: "You ought to have fun. The pace of modern living, even on the farm, demands some relaxation."

And as Doc says—fun is a personal thing. For the minutes it may mean a movie or a good book; for Dad, a melon and refreshing glass of beer; and for the kids, parol or the radio. Doesn't mean everybody has to like the same thing, so long as they relax, have fun, together, in the house.

gion. In fact some plantings are in operation. Drainage is flowing well and all lands will be workable with a few days of sunshine. Conditions are also reported quite favorable around Boynton.

If it becomes necessary to evacuate white families from the Glades, former Morrison field at West Palm Beach, will be opened to refugees. The Army has procured oats, coverings and will be able to provide food for these hard-hit there.

USE CHLORDANE The Crop-Safe Insecticide

Chlordane insecticides get the bugs without hurting your crops. For truck gardens, here is the most effective insecticide yet developed. Deadly to most common pests. Consistently gives kills 95 to 100%. Yet, when properly applied, Chlordane does not injure even such delicate crops as squash and melon vines. Residue volatilizes completely in 2 or 3 weeks. May be used with standard fungicides. Chlordane is available in many commercial brands of insecticides—in wettable powders, dusts, and emulsions. Ask your local dealer for them. Be sure the label states plainly "contains Chlordane" or "contains Chlo-Klor" (Chlor-dane name for Chlordane). THERE ARE NO SUBSTITUTES. If you need dealer contact information, write to the name of a dealer who can.

OBSERVATIONS

get around to its proper position. It almost did so.

Those big bamboo breaks lying along the south side of the Chosen road of the dike, were moved over like twigs, and presented a jungle mass of debris.

Storm played havoc with arrangements and the holding of the Sportsmen's fish fry at Corbin's dock, set for Friday. Another date for the outing will soon be announced.

That hurricane was about as noticeable about the course it would take as an old hen. It sure took the south and west ends of Florida, and then let the people up Louisiana know what a real Atlantic ocean hurricane was like and could do.

The 75 to 100 people who took shelter port at Sebring were housed in the Sebring hotel, sans lights. When the excited patrons paid their bill, the management charged them only with the price for the laundering of the linen, throwing in the room as a good neighborhood gesture. Quite a few other people went to Kissimmee and Orlando.

When the refugee trains arrived in Sebring they were given a royal welcome, and provided with housing accommodations and food. Dr. Buck, who served as medical officer on the train, states that finer hospitality could not have been found anywhere that the Sebring people extended during the brief visit of the refugees.

Building material dealers sure had a big run on roofing material after the storm, for there were comparatively few homes that did not need some kind of patching up.

No golf at the Country Club for awhile yet. The course was a sea of water.

The old highway 15 from Belle Glade to Orlando recently got a good automobile traffic pounding Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning of last week. Possibly one of the heaviest exoduses in the history of the Glades at hurricane time was recorded.

Those reported heavy backwaters in the Kissimmee valley does not preasee hope for a speedy drop in the level of the big lake.

Island farmers who have spent good money by erecting protecting dikes, find their work and money expended for naught, for most of the dikes on the islands broke during the recent hurricane, causing heavy losses. Surely is discouraging.

Emmett Roberts could have advertised Orsola Camp as a Venetian garden, for only the permanent highways were out of water. However, it was completely surrounded by water and ingress and egress was impossible.

mosty by wading. Many of the camp occupants sought shelter outside the camp homes.

The Everglades Presbyterian Church of Belle Glade is nominating. Quite a banquet and instituting services which they held, with many of the Presbytery officers present. Certainly a friendly gesture on the part of the Community Methodist Church to extend the use of its auditorium for the event.

By the way the school yard has been filled up with water, it appears that the filling made last year, is several feet too low and permits inundation right up to the front door step.

Food and meat merchants were hit by the loss of their power for lack of power to keep boxes cooled. Bill Pierce did Marvin Hendry a good turn when he suggested him with a motor for use in his store.

Electricity is a mighty fine thing to have for power and light in normal times, but it is mighty unpleasant to be without it during periods of emergencies, such as we had this past week.

There were a lot of loyal citizens who were in the services in various types of work during the approach and disappearance of the hurricane. Too much praise cannot be given these men for their services.

Our sister city of Pahokee apparently did not suffer as much from the big storm as did we here in Belle Glade. Electric service was restored in that town as early as Thursday afternoon. Pete DeMoya's crew men had a big job on their hands, which they performed in a mighty fine manner.

Lots of broken slumber during that night of wind and rain on Wednesday night.

Our new high school building sure was not a water proof harbor for storm refugees, for the assigned crew of care takers were kept busy keeping the swinging windows fastened against the strong wind gusts.

Printers and newspaper men usually like pie, but not the kind of "pie" which came to a portion of the Herald as it is belatedly went to press on Friday night. When an accident of that kind occurs in a printery it is just too bad for the nerves.

If all goes well tonight, we will be seeing the Golden Rams trying out their gridiron prowess against the Stuart team. Football spirit among the Cooke-Cochran squad is rampant and they will be out there on the grid for victory.

Very few radios went unused during the storm during such time as communication was available. Those who had battery instruments were more fortunate, for they regularly received the bulletins from the weather bureau. Such a net brought in the storm news to the Herald office as a bulletin period. In fact the Herald office was the one place in town that full storm information was procurable.

Those state patrol men along with county, district, and city law officers, were right up to the job, and gave plenty of aid to those desiring it. The clearing of the highway from trees and rubble was partially under their supervision. These law lords are due for a lot of laudation from the public.

Let us all give full thanksgiving that we fared so well. It could have been a lot worse. No lives lost is indeed a storm record.

By the flooded appearances around the residence of "Slick" Kirehman, he needs a water control and drainage system of his own. Get your application in with the Government for an appropriation, A. E. T.

Storm ravages to homes will be giving mechanical men plenty of work for several months to come.

Fishing Interests
Get A Glimmer Of Operation Hope

An AP dispatch from Tallahassee, last week, carried the information that a Circuit Court judge there, hearing a case involving the constitutional amendment of the formation of the present State Game and Fresh Water Commission, had found flaws in it, and declared the Commission was illegally operating.

This might mean that there was still some hope for the Florida commercial fishermen of several Florida areas might be able to resume their fishing, but nothing definite on the opinion have as yet been received by local fishing interests.

John Whidden, of Moore Haven, for many years a commercial fisherman, reports he recently witnessed a sight that made his blood boil, when he found a space along the lake where hundreds of big and little gar fish were attacking, killing and eating myriads of bass and pan fish of all sizes, which had sought refuge in the bayou. He says: "That if this condition continues all over the big lake, there sure will soon be no pan or bass left."

Wind Storm Policy Holder File Claims

Insurance agents had opportunity the past few days since the hurricane, to learn just how many wind storm policy holders they had on their books. Agencies throughout the storm area were crowded and long queues of waiting people were in line to get audience. General office agents were sent in to make adjustments of claims as quickly as possible, so that protection measures to properties would be made at once. Claims may reach into the millions of dollars as a result of the big blow. Belle Glade and Pahokee agencies carried a large volume of such coverage policies, and they have been handled with considerable expediency.

There were a lot of loyal citizens who were in the services in various types of work during the approach and disappearance of the hurricane. Too much praise cannot be given these men for their services.

RUSSELL KAYE

streams would be so full of fish they would overflow their banks.

I don't think that commercial fishing in the waters of the St. Johns or Lake Okechobee are hurting sports fishing to any extent; in fact, in removing destroyers of fish such as turtles, gars and the like, they are helpful.

As far as protecting the black bass in these waters, they are already protected, and cannot be so if I don't see what all the fuss is about. The "red tide" has destroyed more fish than commercial and sports fishermen would catch in five years, but I don't think it will ruin fishing and I believe when the tide has disappeared we'll still catch about as many fish as we ever did.

It has been my experience that fishing today is a darn sight better in Lake Okechobee and the St. Johns than in a whole helluva lot of the so-called protected and stocked lakes that commercial fishermen never go near. Why, I don't know—but I'll trade you a hundred protected fresh water lakes I've fished for a couple of acres of Lake Okechobee any time.

Commercial fishing is an important Florida industry and it should be given encouragement. It provides an income to thousands of people who have no other means of livelihood and brings millions of dollars into the state.

Today, commercial fishing is at just about a standstill. Fishing boats are tied up and fishermen along the St. Johns River from Jacksonville to Lake George will tell you that the closing of these waters to commercial fishing has their business on the verge of disaster.

One of the worst of the situation is the evidence of the situation at just about a standstill. Fishing boats tied up at the docks, dozens of nets on row after row of racks and all employees hanging around. In the Wehaka-Georgetown area, what commercial fishing is going on is confined to the operation of a few traps and some trotlines. The big 1,100 foot nets have been brought in and racked.

Here a $2,000,000 industry is at a standstill. The annual sale of the black-skinned "cats" principally to western markets, ran beyond the two million dollar figure in 1945. The State Board of Conservation reports that a total of 3,262,112 pounds were taken from these waters.

An average of 34¢ a cund, which the fishermen say they receive, that amounts to $11,130,875 which you will have to admit isn't hay. Take that out of money out of circulation and somebody is bound to go hungry and I'm not talking about the fish who have been eating the fish either.

No one, apparently, has any accurate figures on the amount of money invested in commercial fishing equipment, including boats, nets, tackle, etc., but it runs into hundreds of thousands of dollars. I know one reputable commercial fisherman in the Georgetown area who alone has over $50,000 invested in the business. I'm satisfied that at least a couple of million dollars would fall far short of covering the money actually invested in the industry today. Instead of TRYING to BREAK the business, the fishermen, why not GIVE the poor guy a BREAK.

BELLE GLADE AREA

age was sustained there. However, South Bay, and Lake Harbor were pretty well torn up.

For more than 21 hours, the entire Glades section was shut off from road traffic and communications of all kind.

A survey showed extensive damage to dwelling roads, signs, blown down trees and shrubbery. Flooded door yards and blocked highways.

Storm warnings set the boarding up of business places and homes, and the protection of other property, into high gear, and by night the town looked like a barricaded pioneer town. Unprotected property, such as show windows, glassed, fruit stands, signs and anything not fastened down, suffered heavily.

Many cattlemen got busy with their heavy trucks in removing cattle to what they believed to be safe shelter, and on Tuesday night, the dike banks were filled with the mulling cattle, who liked the town no better than humans. Farm pumps were started over the area, to get prevailing waters down to a low ebb, to the more readily handle the deluge of rain that was expected with the storm.

The high winds blew over many fruit trees and caused the shedding of alligator pears and citrus from their limbs just coming to their prime.

Shelter houses were provided by the Wedgworth estate, the city hall and high school building, the Elabrey, Herald, and the new Hugo theatre building, patronized by hundreds of people.

The worst damage area in Belle Glade was at the city hall grade, the Smith-Creech and Hubbell residential sectors, the Chosen corners south and west, and the big tree at the Recreation park, was uprooted.

Cramp crews got busy Thursday and by the end of the week affairs were again operating on normal basis, with the exception of electric services in many of the outlying homes. Food spoilage was reported heavy.

Farmers are hard hit and no doubt about it, and there will be a considerable delay before crops can be replanted and grown ready for shipment to the market.

The FEC and Seaboard jointly operated two refuge trains out of Lake Harbor and Belle Glade, Wednesday morning, moving some 20 cars, which carried in excess of 2,000 people, both black and white. They were given fine shelter and hospitality at Sebring, Kissimmee, Orlando, and other further away points.

A hungry man found it difficult to find food on Thursday morning, as all the eateries were inoperative owing to the lack of cooking facilities. Mike Murphy and his old oil store did a whooping big coffee business during the late morning and afternoon. A relief call for bread brought in several truckloads of the staff of life late Thursday afternoon.

The interior of the new A. E. McCabe was damaged by flood waters, and the home of A. E. McCabe was untenantable, owing to the loss of its roof.

The serviceman's memorial board, which stood east of the postoffice, was completely demolished, and the new Chamber of Commerce board was blown down but not seriously damaged.

The islands out in the lake were severely storm swept and damaged to property was reported heavy by the storm. The entire territory was under several feet of water, and the reports that a total of 3,262,112 pounds were taken from these waters.

Service stations on Wednesday afternoon and evening did not report heavy by the storm. Gas tanks, for persons who were driving out of the area. Roadways in every direction were blocked by fallen trees and other obstructions. Clearing crews were busy early on Thursday morning, in endeavor to get traffic ways opened up.

A large oil storage tank, located near the town of Sebring, was hit by the wind and rolled across the north canal highway, and would have gone into the canal but for a friendly tree obstructing its pathway.

Dr. S. J. Simmons was on medical duty at the fire station, and reported no deaths, one man with a cut finger and one woman with an attack of hysterics, one colonel with birth reported on the refuge train.

Friday morning brought news from the Eastport sector, and there a condition of slumps is reported with millions of dollars worth of damage. Delayed reports of high winds, hard hit, and required Red Cross assistance.

Surveys of the Belle Glade parking house district shows considerable damage to the plants of Wedgworth estate, the American Fruit Growers building, and the Hector Supply Company's building, and lesser losses at several of the other plants.

The interior of the surgical ward at the Belle Glade hospital was flooded when a section of the roof came off the southeast portion of the building. All those fine wall decorations just recently completed, were destroyed and will require replacement, as well as some work in other portions of the hospital.

School Enrollment Reaches The 700 Mark

Public schools in the Glades reopened on Tuesday morning, although teachers had reported for duty on Monday. Principal Frank Hobson reports that the Belle Glade school enrollment has now passed the 700 mark, and he was expecting that by the time the peak of enrollment was reached, which comes early in November, that the enrollment would pass over the 800 mark.

Masonic Gathering Cancelled

Owing to the hurricane, and the fact that so much damage has been done to places where banquet and session were held, Master Lloyd Benson, of Boynton, called off the district Masonic meeting which was to have been held there on last Thursday night. Announcement will be made at a later date for the next date for this important gathering.

BIBLE QUESTIONS
ANSWERED BY THE
VOICE OF PROPHECY
INTERNATIONAL BIBLE EDUCATION

Question—Does not the sixth commandment, "Thou shalt not kill" matter as to kill animals?

Answer—Jesus interpreted it as forbidding murder, which is the unlawful taking of human life. (See Matthew 19:18.)

Q—I have heard that the two chapters of the Bible are exactly alike. Please tell me which ones.

A—No two chapters of the Holy Bible are exactly alike, but there is little difference between Isaiah 37 and 2 Kings 19.

Q—Does the Bible say anything about Christians wearing jewelry?

A—Read the whole seventh chapter of 1 Corinthians, and notice also the principle laid down in 2 Corinthians 6:14—"Ye are not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?"

Q—Who printed the first Bible in America?

A—John Eliot printed the New Testament in 1661 and the whole Bible in 1662, both in an Indian dialect. This was the first Bible translated and printed in a new language for purposes of evangelization. It was also the first Bible printed in all the Americas.

Q—Where in the Bible is the expression, "Out of the frying pan into the fire"?

A—It is in the Bible, but the frying pan is missing in the Scriptures. Leviticus 2:7: "And if by obligation be a meat offering baked in the fire, it shall be made of fine flour with oil." And Leviticus 7:9: "It shall be as the offering that is taken in the oven, and all this is done in the frying pan, and in the pan, shall be the priests that offereth it."

Q—Why doesn't the Bible say something about health as well as about the soul?

A—It says a lot about health and right living, 3 John 2: "Blessed are they that do these things, that they may prosper, and in this they shall prosper, even as the soul prospereth." Romans 12:1: "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." 1 Corinthians 10:31: "Whether ye eat, or drink, or whatever ye do, do all to the glory of God." (See also Thessalonians 5:22; 1 Corinthians 9:27; 1 Corinthians 13:2.)

COMPLETE STORY

(Continued From Page 1) Bay, who were seeking safer homes than their homes. Mrs. Eoking was in charge of the cooking brigade which served hot meals three times a day in the school cafeteria throughout the emergency.

Chief of Police C. G. Payne was instrumental in getting some 400 evacuees back to their homes in this area after the storm had passed. Learning that the railroad trestle over Fishing Creek was out and the refugees stranded in Sebring, he rounded up four big semi-trailers trucks on Friday and sent them to Sebring to bring the people home, many of whom were short of funds and some of whom were ill. Some of these were white people but the greater number were negroes from South Bay and Lake Harbor. The refugee train of 39 cars got in early Saturday morning with the remainder of those evacuated by rail.

Due to precautions taken by the State of Florida there are no known casualties and but minor property damage. Most buildings were damaged in one way or another, broken windows, missing shingles or tar paper roofing, buildings unroofed or lifted from their foundations, others having weatherboarding or shingles stripped off and a few practically destroyed.

The greater portion of the damage was to early planted crops, staple crops, trees, ornamentals and yard plantings. Dikes already scoured by the long rainy season threatened to give way and district drainage officials indicated that growers are still working around the clock to bolster these dikes and prevent further flood damage.

The lowest barometer reading in South Bay was 29.17, at about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. By 4 o'clock the barometer had started a slow but steady rise and it was known that the storm was abating. Rainfall has been estimated at from 6 to 12 inches in the South Bay area. The North New River canal rose a foot as a result of the storm. Lights and power were restored to most of South Bay, Friday, and to the remainder by Monday. Telephone service was resumed by the Bell Telephone Company Saturday.

ST. PETERSBURG TO ENTERTAIN STATE
P. T. A. CONVENTION

Final details in connection with the annual statewide convention of the Florida Congress of Parents and Teachers to be held in St. Petersburg are being worked out by the general convention committee chairman, Mrs. Roy Meador and Mrs. Henry Whitesell.

The Soreno Hotel has been designated official headquarters, but Mrs. T. M. Griffith, chairman of the local housing committee, stated that accommodations would be available at a number of other hotels for those desiring rooms elsewhere.

The annual banquet promises to be a brilliant affair, a Pines-Lake peninsula function with all sections of the country preparing favors identifying their individual communities. Numerous individual luncheons are planned during the convention and these are in charge of Mrs. Charles Schulz, Jr. Committee chairmen for the convention include Mrs. Ed. Saltz, Banquet; Mrs. Hillard Wilson, Motorcade; Mrs. Leon Frank, Chairman of the Board Dinner and Mrs. Max Cheronneau, Hostess.

Something different in the way of entertainment is planned for the Wednesday evening, a "Salon's horn pipe" staged at the famed Millers Dollar Musical Pier.
